

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The case of Miss Gertrude A. Wardell vs. the Town of Killingly will go to trial in the superior court for Windham county at Putnam, next September. This is the interesting announcement made Tuesday following the making public of a finding by the supreme court of the state of Connecticut that no certificate is needed by a music teacher in the public schools of Connecticut to be rated as a duly qualified teacher and that the case must now proceed through regular channels.

Miss Wardell, a duly elected supervisor of music for the public school system of the town of Killingly, alleges in her complaint on which the matter comes into the courts of the state, that she was summarily discharged from her position in the late winter period of 1919. Such circumstances as led to the dismissal of Miss Wardell by the town supervisor of schools, H. F. Turner, now engaged in educational work in Massachusetts, have been the subject of discussion for a long time throughout the town. It does not seem necessary here to outline in detail the division of Killingly public opinion as to whether Miss Turner and other officials, notably members of the town school committee, were right or wrong in the action taken in the Wardell case. This will eventually and finally be adjudicated by the courts of the state.

Miss Wardell alleges in her complaint that she was discharged during the late winter of 1919. In the early spring of that year the matter was brought into the courts and since that time there has been an exhibition of legal sparring that for one thing has prevented the case from actually coming to trial. The supreme court decision will be welcomed by all who are interested in the case, in one way or another, for it means that there is no further ground for delaying trial and that the case will come up in September, in all likelihood, and that a final decision will be reached in due time thereafter.

Aside from whatever merits may be attached to either side of the case, property owners—who also happen to be taxpayers, are chiefly interested in the case because it will be up to them to pay heavy bills resulting from the long drawn out litigation. Whether or not Miss Wardell is eventually victorious in her suit, the town of Killingly—and that means the taxpayers—will have heavy expenses to face.

What the total costs to the town will be no one can predict at this time. In any event, they will amount to several thousand dollars. One seemingly paramount criticism that may be cited in that

For the most fishermen who have quit the season as unproductive—no bites, no heavy catches, no real sport, it will be aggravating to record that an alien fisherman came down into this territory from Worcester and took a 2-pound trout out of Snake Meadow brook. Now aren't you sorry that you quit?

Employees of different departments of S. N. E. Telephone company in this territory are to present Charles Smith gifts and testimonials of good will this Wednesday evening. Mr. Smith, who has been the testman at the local central office for several years is going permanently to Williamstown, where he has been temporarily assigned for several weeks.

A sentiment that seemed to be gaining ground in Danielson Tuesday was that the two groups of capitalists and their friends are fighting a bitter fight for the control of the destiny of the Connecticut Mills company. Much is in the works under cover. The outcome of it will mean protection or losses for the Killingly people who own scores of thousands of dollars worth of the second preferred stock of the company.

Alan Barrows, superintendent of the Goodyear Mills, Inc. left Tuesday on a business trip to Akron, O., headquarters of the Goodyear company—the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

A branch of the Association Opposed to Prohibition hopes to make its efforts felt in the elections in Killingly this fall. The local branch will contest the election of all "dry" candidates for the state legislature for the national congress. This association will operate in a score of states this fall, when its members of congress will be elected.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morin and son returned Tuesday after a stay of nearly a week in Sherbrooke, P. Q., where the Canadian plan of the Connecticut Mills company is located. Mr. Morin will remain here for a time, but expects to relocate in Providence.

In due time the Danielson chamber of commerce will be asked to take up with the state highway department the matter of repairs of state highways in this part of the state. It is the desire of local business interests that state highways hereabouts, which do not begin to compare for condition with state highways in the central and western part of the state, be kept in better repair, as it is understood, the money for such improvement is available.

Pupils in the common school of the town of Killingly are engaged with their final examinations of the year this week. The graded schools of the town will have graduation exercises in the town hall on June 14.

New furniture has been added to the barracks of the state police department on North Main street. The barracks gradually are being made ready for occupancy by the dozen or more members of the state police department to be stationed here within the next few weeks.

Henry A. Peterson of Nevada, N. J., was a visitor with friends in Danielson Tuesday.

Dolbey of Providence was in Danielson Tuesday on a business trip.

PUTNAM

A dozen public health nurses, representatives of various Windham county towns, were guests here Tuesday afternoon of Miss Katherine Irvine, chairman of the Putnam public health center, the new and nicely appointed headquarters of which are in the Tatem block, in Union street.

The visiting nurses, all specially skilled in the particular line of nursing in which they are engaged, were invited to inspect the health center here and its appointment and equipment. Later they were entertained by Miss Byrne at lunch at the Putnam man.

The group of nurses who came here are the practical exponents of a movement that has been well developed in Windham county towns and which is of inestimable benefit to the public. Tuesday's conference offered opportunity for an exchange of viewpoints on various phases of the work that is being done in the interest of the public health. The visiting nurses found much to interest them in what is being done in Putnam.

A detail that held their attention was the new triple sterilizer recently added to the equipment of the local district health center. This piece of apparatus is of a very modern type and can be disassembled and taken wherever the nurse may need it. It was understood that the state highway department has sufficient funds to take care of the work.

come tomorrow, June 8. These half-holidays will continue through the remainder of the month of June and through July, August and September.

State police patrolling of territory heretofore already has put the fear of the law into the minds and hearts of some who are inclined in these halcyon days to flout all authority. This is with many more or less of a wild age, but the presence of the effective forces of the state police department working chiefly in territory outside this city, which is well taken care of by the local police, is having a splendid restraining influence on many who otherwise might be inclined to cut loose and "step on her" whether driving an automobile or themselves, to destruction.

Malcolm M. Willey, student at Columbia university, has joined the staff of a local paper for the summer season. Mr. Willey, winner of a fellowship for the second consecutive session, will return to Columbia in the fall.

The town school committee of Putnam has caused to be published and issued a pamphlet dealing with dental hygiene. This issue sets forth in more or less detail something of the policy of the town school officials relative to the care of the teeth of children in the town's public schools as well as in the parochial school of this city. So interesting and unique is the pamphlet that requests for copies of it have been received from points as distant as cities in New York state.

State police will patrol highways, not much frequented, in outlying sections of this part of Windham county during the summer and fall to see that raiding automobile parties do not clean out gardens and orchards. For this the farmer—the man who labors to produce things that go to feed the nation's millions—will be duly thankful.

Tire fabric business is reported as improving. This, indirectly, is good news for Putnam, for the Manhasett Manufacturing company produces hand-drawn thousands of yards of fabric annually during the making of tires, and the Manhasett company is one of the most important of the city's industries.
